WH-QUESTIONS

Core idea

Present Perfect Continuous is used in the lesson for an action that has been continuing up to the present, especially when a duration/time is given.

जब कोई काम कुछ समय से लगातार चल रहा है और उसका time/duration दिया गया है, तब इस lesson में Present Perfect Continuous का use किया गया है.

I have been teaching for two hours. • She has been sleeping for two hours.

1. Present Continuous vs Present Perfect Continuous

Present Continuous

I am teaching.

मैं पढ़ा रहा हूँ।

Action present में चल रहा है.

Present Perfect Continuous

I have been teaching for two hours.

मैं 2 घंटे से पढ़ा रहा हूँ।

Action + duration/time.

Lesson distinction: सिर्फ current action हो → am/is/are + V4.

Current action के साथ duration/time दिया हो → has/have been + V4 + since/for + time.

2. Main Structure

Positive Structure

Subject + has / have + been + V4 (ing) + Object + since / for + Time

Subject	Helping Verb	Example
He / She / It / Singular Name	has been	He has been sleeping.
I / We / You / They	have been	I have been teaching.

Memory formula

Singular → HAS BEEN

I / We / You / They → HAVE BEEN

Then main verb → V4 / -ing

3. Since vs For — सबसे Important Concept

SINCE = Point of Time

जब starting point fixed हो।

since Sunday

since morning

since April

since 2015

FOR = Period of Time

जब duration दी हो, लेकिन exact starting point न दिया हो।

for two hours

for four months

for two years

for three days

Shortcut

SINCE → “कब से?” यानी fixed starting point.

FOR → “कितने समय से?” यानी duration/period.

Time expression	Use	Example
2015	Since	since 2015
Sunday	Since	since Sunday
morning	Since	since morning
April	Since	since April
two hours	For	for two hours
four months	For	for four months
two years	For	for two years
three days	For	for three days
